Fourth Art Exhibition Opens at Friedman Airport; Reception for Artists on Thursday, November 17th, 5:30 pm

November 14, 2016 – The SUN Airport Arts Committee (SAAC) recently unveiled its fourth exhibition of artwork at the public terminal. The current show features artwork by 27 artists working in a range of media, including painting, drawing, photography, mixed media and fiber arts. As in the past, the call for artwork sought pieces that were representative of the area.

“As someone relatively new to the Valley, I am deeply impressed by the abundance of talented artists here,” said Airport Manager Chris Pomeroy. “The Airport Board and staff are extremely proud to feature such wonderful and diverse works of art in the airport, allowing locals and our visitors a chance to reflect on the Wood River Valley in a different way.”

An artist reception is scheduled for Thursday, November 17th, 5:30 pm at the airport; the public is welcome to attend.

The exhibition includes 36 pieces by 27 artists that were selected by the SUN Airport Arts Committee, an independent jury consisting of representatives of the airport and the Hailey, Ketchum and Bellevue Arts Commissions.

In addition to the 36 works of art, the exhibition includes several permanent pieces owned by the airport, including the collection of bronze sculptures created by artist Rod Kagan that reside in the roundabout just past the airport parking exit.

Works by the following artists are now installed throughout the terminal:

- Joe Bauwens, photography
