SUBJECT:
Chestnut Street Vacation – Vacation Ordinance, Quitclaim Deeds and Easements

AUTHORITY: ☐ ID Code □ IAR □ City Ordinance/Code (IFAPPLICABLE)

BACKGROUND/SUMMARY OF ALTERNATIVES CONSIDERED:

Last fall, the City Council conditionally approved a partial vacation of Chestnut Street adjacent to property owned by Lyn Holt and Clear Creek Land Company, LLC. The City Council allowed a vacation provided there was adequate snow storage and a utility easement. During the hearing, I did advise the Council that a vacation of a street cannot be conditional based on an Idaho Supreme Court case, Black v. Ketchum. Nonetheless the Council conditionally approved the vacation provided there were adequate utility and snow storage easements. Since that meeting, I have reviewed this application with the Street Superintendent and he is satisfied with the snow storage to be provided. In addition, I discovered that the vacation would potentially landlock two lots to the west of the vacated street. Those two lots happen to be owned by one of the applicants for the vacated street, Clear Creek Land Company. Accordingly, I have prepared easements which will provide for existing utilities, snow storage and access to the two lots. To avoid the problem with conditionally approving a street vacation, I would suggest that the applicants, Lyn Holt and Clear Creek Land Company, sign the easements before the city finally adopts the ordinance. Once all the documents are signed, then the City can simultaneously record the ordinance, quitclaim deeds and easements. I believe there may be some urgency which could justify waiving the readings because Charlie Holt has advised me that he wishes to proceed with a remodel of the Holt property and title needs to be transferred to Lyn Holt before the remodel can proceed.
