November 1, 2012

Honorable Fritz Haemmerle
Mayor, City of Hailey
115 Main Street South, Suite H
Hailey, Idaho 83333

Mayor Haemmerle:

I would like to congratulate your community for its commitment to wise floodplain management through your participation in the Community Rating System (CRS) of the National Flood Insurance Program (NFIP). The CRS recognizes local efforts to reduce future flood losses by decreasing flood insurance premiums for a community's property owners by 5 percent for a Class 9 to 45 percent for a Class 1. Some of the flood preparedness efforts credited under CRS include: maintaining open space in the floodplain, elevating new buildings beyond the minimum NFIP protection level, initiating storm-water management programs, and mapping flood hazards – just to name a few.

As the enclosed plaque highlights, as of October 1, 2012, the City of Hailey achieved a Class 7 rating in the CRS. This rating translates into a premium savings of 15 percent for each flood insurance policyholder located in the designated floodplain in your community. Communities participating in the CRS not only reduce flood insurance premium rates for their constituents, but also limit future economic losses caused by flooding when implementing the mitigation and preparedness efforts undertaken through the CRS.

Again, I commend you for your work in reducing future flood damages through participation in the CRS. If you have any questions concerning the CRS or how to increase your rating, please contact Ms. Marlene Jacobs, ISO Commercial Risk Services at (503) 342-6138, or John Graves of my staff at (425) 487-4737.

Sincerely,

Programs:

- Four Story Mania programs were held in September with 35 kids and 24 adults in attendance. Again, many thanks to our volunteer readers! Cathy Neumann, our most recently hired staff member will now be our weekly reader.
- The three part series of ‘Food, Food, Food’ kicked off in September with ‘Canning with Janice’. The program was given by Janice Moulton with nineteen in attendance. Thanks to Janice for a great program. The other two programs will be jerky making in October and cheese making in November.
- A patron had expressed a need for Grandparents as Parents (GAP) program. Regular meetings are held in Twin Falls and Boise. Diane Clark and I worked on bringing local representatives to the table to discuss the needs in our valley. Participants included the Department of Health and Welfare, Blaine County School District and CSI Office on Aging. Kiwanis donated goodies for the meeting. A total of seventeen were in attendance. A local group was established as a result of the meeting. This newly formed local group will meet again at the library as they continue to establish themselves as GAP members. The library hopes to offer not only a temporary meeting facility but also programs and books.
• The open computer lab continues to grow. The lab is open two hours per week. Two people can be assisted simultaneously. A total of four people were assisted during the month of September. I plan to advertise this program at the Senior Connection as most of the interest has come from the senior population.

Staff:
• The library closed early on the 12th so that staff could attend the memorial service of longtime volunteer, Mardene Weston. The staff was appreciative of the opportunity to attend the service. She is dearly missed.
• Nancy Gurney and Lyn Drewien attended the HUG (Horizon User’s Group) meeting in Boise. This is a LYNX Consortium meeting and affords employees the opportunity to discuss concerns in a round table setting and glean information. Topics included Enterprise (interface), upcoming changes to cataloging, and the circulation meeting.
• Nancy Gurney and I traveled to Boise for more acquisitions training. The focus of the meeting was to create purchase order templates and ordering, receiving and invoice training.
• I attended the quarterly LYNX Consortium directors meeting in Boise. I have successfully fulfilled my obligation of scribe for the group.

Technology:
• Roger Parker spoke with local Cox employees to try and fix some of the internet phone issues we have been experiencing. Cox is monitoring the system and made a service call to check on the equipment. At this time, the phones seem to be working more efficiently.
• Two computers were ordered for the circulation counter to replace the old computers. Two more computers were ordered for the juvenile area. Those computers were so old that they were no longer compatible with software. The purchase of these computers completes the computer upgrade for the library.

Development:
• A saleswoman from PlayAway stopped by the library to offer a demonstration for a new product. The PlayAway View is a preloaded DVD player. Content varies depending on which collection it is from. Collections include juvenile, educational series, and documentaries. At this time, I am not planning to incorporate these devices into the library collection as they are not cost effective.

Building:
• The carpet was cleaned over the long Labor Day weekend. It had been many years since this had been done. The carpet is still in good condition and may not have to be replaced in the foreseeable future.

• The windows were also washed both inside and out. The globe light fixtures were also cleaned.
• A fall collage was painted on the library windows by Dan Karlovich. He did a wonderful job and will be back again before the holidays to change the design. Patrons have commented on how much they enjoy the bright colors and the fun patterns.

• A baby changing station was installed in the men’s public restroom. Now both public restrooms have the stations installed and our public is very grateful. Jack Daley, library volunteer, installed the equipment.

Other:

• I participated in the St. Luke’s Community Health Fair held at the Community Campus. Over 300 people attended the Saturday event. Staff armed me with lots of information, brochures and handouts that were well received. Our focus was on health information offered in various formats including databases, books and other partner resources. Many people asked me how to get a library card. Some wanted explanations on why the library charges for nonresident cards. I welcomed the opportunity to educate the public on our services and hope to participate again.

Re: City of Hailey Response to T-O Engineers, Airport Alternatives Technical Analysis (Friedman Memorial Airport)

Dear Ms. Suomi:

The City of Hailey has received and has considered the T-O Engineers’ Airport Alternatives Technical Analysis (Report). The Report outlines seven (7) different airport layout alternatives. At this point, the City is not sure what, if any, response the Federal Aviation Administration (FAA) desires with respect to the Report, but the City does have some preliminary comment.

With respect to the alternatives presented to the FAA under the Report, the City could not support alternatives one (1) through five (5) for the following reasons:

1. Alternatives one (1) through four (4) cannot be constructed and completed to provide a runway safety area as of December 31, 2015, as Congressionally required under 14 CFR part 139.

2. The City remains interested in a “dual path” solution to the creation of a new airport to service our area. In the long term, the “dual path” envisions a new airport to be built away from any town or urban area in Blaine County. To move towards this goal, it is essential that the FAA lift the stay on the EIS process. If the stay on the EIS process was imposed because of concerns about existing site selection, then the City would like the FAA, or the FMAA, to move forward identifying new sites.

3. In the short and medium term, the other part of the “dual path” is to make the existing site as safe as possible while, at the same time, improving existing service reliability. In proceeding with short and medium term plans, the City is interested in solutions that can be accommodated inside of the so-called “existing fence.” In other words, the City’s strong preference would be not to expand the existing borders of the Airport. These solutions should be considered and scrutinized after being presented under an Airport Layout Plan and further Master Planning.

To summarize, reviewing site alternatives for the existing site is nothing new to the City of Hailey or to the Blaine County community. Speaking on behalf of the City of Hailey, many of the options presented in the Report have been previously rejected by our community leaders and by our citizens and, therefore, should not be worthy of any further consideration by the FAA.

Thank you for your consideration of these very important matters.

Sincerely,

Fritz X. Haemmerle
Mayor
